Time and Place: . 4 p.m. - 5:15 p.m., White House Situation Room Subject: Korea Participants: State White House Secretary Edmund Muskie Zbigniew Brzezinski (Chairman) David Aaron DEPSEC Warren Christopher Richard Holbrooke, Secretary NSC for East Asian & Pacific Donald Gregg Affàirs . . General John Pustay, Asst to the Chairman, JCS General John Vessey, Vice Chief of Staff for the Army SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS After'a full discussion of the current situation in Korea there was general agreement that the first priority is the restoration of order in Kwangju by the Korean authorities with the minimum use of force necessary without laying the seeds for wide disorders later. Once order is restored, it × was agreed that we must press the Korean Government, and the military in particular, to allow a greater degree of political freedom to evolve. (S)

Secretary Muskie then asked that decisions be made on the following points: . . . . Public statements. .... It was agreed that the statement of 1. May 22 was sufficient for the time being. (II)US posture toward the situation in Kwangju. 2. It was agreed that we do not need to do more than we have done up to now. We have counselled moderation, but have not ruled out the use of force, should the Koreans need to X employ it to restore order. (C)

Additional steps by US military. It was agreed that 3. nothing additional needs to be done at this time. It was noted that the Koreans were pleased by the rapidity with which we had moved AWACS into the area. The current US state of alert re North Korea was judged X correct. We are reviewing the location of the carrier Coral Sea, which is now north of the Philippines heading east. It may be desirable to redirect the Coral Sea towards the Sea of Japan. Secretary Muskie asked the Defense Department to take additional planning steps to prepare for "worst case scenarios" which could develop. Specifically, he asked that DOD prepare recommendations for what should be done if there is a pattern of spreading violence outside of Kwangju and, secondly, what the Defense Department would recommend if ROK redeployments to internal security duty continued to the point where the counter-North' Korea mission of the joint command was endangered. "(S)

Visits by US persons. The question of the visit by EX-IM Bank President John Moore was discussed. It was agreed to get Ambassador Gleysteen's opinion on that visit, and to make a final decision once Moore has reached Japan. The consensus of the group was that it might be a mistake at this time to send a negative signal to the Koreans by cancelling another visit. (A visit by Llewellen of OPIC has already been cancelled.) (S)

5. What to do after order has been restored in Kwangju. It was agreed that what we do depends in large part on how the situation in Kwangju is resolved. If the situation there is handled well, with little loss of life, we can move quietly to apply pressure for more political evolution. If the situation in Kwangju involves large loss of life, the PRC will meet again to discuss measures to be taken. (S)

6. Post-Kwangju objectives. Secretary Muskie asked that thought be devoted to what we want to achieve in Korea, and how we go about achieving our longer-range goals. (C)
